Cheap Reading! Good Reading! FARMERS SAVE YOUR MONEY!

We have never heretofore offered any inducements to new subscribers to the Standard in the way of clubbing with other papers, but as it is getting to be quite fashionable with those editors who cannot succossfully compete with their neighbors without the aid of such props, we have in this regard concluded to follow in the wake of others, and therefore make the following propositions, which are not excelled by any publisher in Vermont, and in one or two respects are far ahead of any.

TANDARD and STOCK JOURNAL. For $2,00 we will send the Standard and the American Stock Journal to January 1 1871. The Stock Journal is a 32 page monthly, printed at Parksburg, Penn., at one dollar a year. It is devoted entirely to the interests of stock raisers and is the best thing of its kind published. The object of the publisher in offering it to us so cheap is to introduce it, even at a loss, in hope of keeping the subscriber thus obtained a second year. It should be in the hands of every one who owns one animal or one fowl. Old subscribers as well as new san have the benefit of this offer.

STANDARD and RURAL AMERICAN.

For $2,50 we will send the Standard and the Rural American to January 1, 1871. The Rural American is a large 32 page ag- chiefly as the eastern terminus of the Un-
